

MACGREGOR

LAW LIMITED

Solicitor-led legal support for modern businesses

Employment Law | Commercial Litigation | Business Legal Support

Businesses often need day-to-day legal support, but do not want the call-centre effect. Macgregor Law Limited offers something different: direct access to specialist, solicitor-led advice that is responsive, commercially focused and tailored to the realities of your business.

What we do

- Day-to-day employment and HR advice
- Support with disciplinaries, grievances, investigations and settlement agreements
- Commercial contract review and business risk guidance
- Commercial disputes, debt recovery and contentious strategy
- Manager and staff training across key workplace risk areas
- Retained advisory support for businesses wanting and external in-house legal function

Why Macgregor Law

- Direct solicitor involvement and specialist representation
- No generic scripts and no being passed from advisor to advisor
- Practical advice that is clear, robust, and commercially sensible
- A modern, agile, and nationally accessible practice
- A competitive fee structure without compromising on quality or strategic input
- A boutique service built for SMEs, entrepreneurs and growing businesses

Retained advisory support available

We can act as your retained external legal partner, providing ongoing advice and assistance across employment, HR, commercial and business-risk matters, with training and strategic support tailored to your organisation.
